TWENTY-SIXTH YEAR

ROOF OF A MINE FALLS IN ON THEM

Ninety Miners Buried in the Red Ash Vein of the Twin Shaft.

NO WARNING OF THE GREAT DANGER

Over Two-Thirds of the Victims Married Men.

Concussion So Great That Nearly Every Building for Miles Around Was Shaken—Wild Scenes Among the Wives and Children and Other Relatives of the Men in the Earth—Brave Lads to the Rescue—Results Up to an Early Hour This Morning.

WILKES-BARRE, Penn., June 28.—While ninety miners were at work in the Red Ash vein of the Twin shaft, at Pittston, about 3 o'clock this afternoon, the roof caved in and it is believed all of the men perished. About forty of the imprisoned men were English-speaking miners, the others foreign. The names are: M. J. Langan, inside superintendent, married, 40 years old. J. J. Lynett, inside foreman, married, 35. Alexander McCormick, aged 42. Thomas Murphy, driver boss, aged 36. James Costello, married, 24. Michael Coughlin, single, 24. John Hart, single, 30. James Dalley, single, 20. Michael Cornell, single, 34. Daniel Ward, single, 35. Frank Kehoe, married, 25. John Kehoe, married, 25. John McDonald, married, 28. Ed Delaney, married, 33. Cornelius McGuire, married, 34. James Golden, married, 35. Michael O'Brien, married, 45. Michael Hughes, married, 35. Ed Kilday, married, 36. James Burke, single, 25. Patrick Ryan, married, 40. Thomas Tennyson, fire boss, married, 24. Thomas Gaffney. John Gaffney, married, 25. Michael Doherty, single, 30. Anthony Kane, single, 34. J. W. Murphy, single, 28. James Wall, married, 45. James Lee, single, 25. Anthony Gorman, married, 25. Thomas Wall, single, 18. Dominick O'Malley, single, 30. Peter Martin, married, 35. Michael Ford, married, 35. Timothy Durbin, single, 25. John Huston, married, Hungarian laborer. Joseph Durenda, married, Hungarian. Tony Tollack, married, Hungarian. Peter Slavoni, married, Hungarian. Andrew Slovinski, married, Hungarian. Iunanian Maszkovite, married, Hungarian. John Cadamski, single, Hungarian.

THERE ARE OTHERS. Aside from these there may be other English-speaking miners among the unfortunates. Thirty Poles, and Huns were entombed and it is thought the total number of bodies in the mine will reach 100.

The men were at work propping up the roof when the fall occurred. The alarm was immediately given by the ringing of the fire bells, and rescuers were put to work without delay. At 3 o'clock this afternoon the first bodies were found in the slope some distance from the place in which the men had been working.

More than two-thirds of the victims were married men. Among them were Acting Mayor Langan, who was inside superintendent of the mine, and J. J. Lynett, a ward councilman. About two weeks ago the surveyors reported to General Superintendent Law that the mine was "squeezing" and that unless steps were immediately taken to timber it a cave-in would be looked for. Superintendent Law lost no time, but at once put a number of timbermen at work to brace the falling roof. The "squeeze" continued, however, and yesterday the heavy damage to the mine. Inside Superintendent Langan gave orders that the most experienced miners should be secured and that the party would go down the mine at 7 o'clock. Expert timbermen put in an appearance at that hour and were soon lowered into the workings. They made their way to the Red Ash vein, 150 feet down the slope. The work of propping proceeded rapidly until 11 o'clock, when another fall occurred. It made a low, running noise and the flying coal and debris drove the men back. Then the "squeeze" ceased again, and the men thought it was safe to resume work. They labored on until 3:30 o'clock, when, so it is presumed, the ROOF FELL IN WITHOUT WARNING.

making a tremendous crash. It is supposed, however, that the men were all located by the surveyors near the slope, and these probably ran up the incline when the fall occurred. This is the only way the finding of Mayor Langan's body in the slope can be accounted for. The men received only warning they had time to run up the slope, but not to any great distance. The falling rock and coal filled up the slope and the adjoining gangways, completely shutting off all avenues of escape. It was at first supposed the men escaped being caught, and that they were imprisoned behind the debris, but the finding of the two bodies would go to disprove this. It is likely possible, however, that living men may still be behind the fall, although it is extremely improbable. Even if they escaped being crushed by the falling roof, the probability of their being alive for any length of time in a gaseous mine is remote.

The alarm was first given by Water-carrier John Sheridan, who, with Thomas Gill and another man, were the only ones to escape out of the whole party who entered the mine last night. Sheridan was on his way up the slope to get some fresh water for the men, and when about one hundred feet from the foot of the shaft was knocked down by the concussion. He was badly cut and bruised by flying coal and rock. He lay unconscious ten minutes and then came up the shaft. The concussion was so great that it was heard for miles around. The foundations of nearly every building in Pittston were shaken and windows and doors rattled as in a tornado. In the houses nearer to the mine, persons were thrown from their beds. The first thought was that and the inhabitants rushed pell-mell from their houses. The ringing of the fire bells and the shrieking of the big mine whistle told the story.

Crowds of people gathered about the mouth of the shaft, and a number of thousands by daybreak. Stalwart men stood appalled and frantic women, who had husbands or sons in the doomed mine, waited in despair.

One mother cried out that she had two sons below. Another was the wife or widow of some unfortunate one and had nine helpless children at home. Many knelt on the ground, and in voices broken in sobs to restore their lost ones alive.

When it was given out that there was little or no hope of rescuing the men alive women and girls fainted and were borne away.

The rescue work was promptly begun. The best miners who remained on the surface joined voluntarily in the hazardous task, for hazardous it certainly was. It was the constant menace of another fall or explosion of fire damp. Special efforts were made to keep the air fans in good order, so that if by any chance the men were alive they should have fresh air to breathe.

THE BLOCKED SLOPE STILL GANGWAYS BEHIND

The blocked slope and gangways behind the fallen roof were the only way the rescuers were divided into three parties of forty men each, under the direction of Mine Foreman Alex McMullen.

The men worked as they had never before working clearing away the debris in the slope with the energy that only springs out of the knowledge of dear lives behind it. They made good headway, considering the difficulties they had to contend with, and at 3 o'clock this morning had cleared the slope a distance of 400 feet.

ACTIVITY BROUGHT ENCOURAGEMENT

but when the first clearance was made, it revealed a sight that dispelled all hope. Under the mass of rock lay the bodies of Langan and Lynett. A damper fell upon the work of the rescuers. They had been working for life and had found death. The hope remained that others of the men might be penned in somewhere and that they would yet have the satisfaction of finding them alive.

At 2 o'clock this afternoon it became necessary to swear in extra police to control the crowd around the mouth of the shaft. It had increased to fully 7,000. Ropes were stretched around the shaft and only mine officials were allowed to enter the enclosure.

Sheridan, the water boy, who had such a narrow escape, tells a thrilling story of the catastrophe. He thinks there was an earthquake, and that it blew down the newly erected timbers and caused the cave-in. He said those inside had no apprehension of a fall or a "squeeze." Everything and the men expected to be out of the mine within an hour.

"One of the fall," says the boy, "was like a hundred cannon and the force of it blew me fully twenty-five feet. I was hurled against the side of the slope. A piece of rock hit me back of the head, the wound commenced to bleed, and I fainted. Richards and Gill, who were on their way out after timber, concurred with Sheridan that the concussion was terrific."

"Nobody regrets the dreadful occurrence more than I do. It is too early yet to give any reason as to the cause of the accident, but I can assure you that the work under the cave-in was dangerous, not a single one of the men would have been allowed to enter the mine. I don't care for the damage to the mine. I care for the lives."

THE LOSS OF LIFE

that gives me so much sorrow."

The first great disaster in the mine, when 120 men perished in the Ayrton mine, this country. The breaker over the mine caught fire and all the men in the mine were suffocated. The great catastrophe caused the legislature to pass a law compelling mining to have two openings. But when a cave-in occurred in a mine and the men were surrounded on every side by debris, it makes little difference how many openings there may be. They cannot escape, even if spared by the falling rocks.

Was Premature.

The report that two bodies had been found in the mine was proved tonight to be premature. Up to 9 o'clock tonight no bodies had been found. At that hour all hope of finding any person alive had been lost.

The superintendent of the Lehigh Coal and Iron company, who is an authority on the matter, says that the bodies are reaching the surface by the late hours of the afternoon. The late hours of the afternoon, because the part of the slope upon which their energies were bent was Rescuers at Work.

At 11 o'clock tonight the situation at the ill-fated mine was unchanged. The rescuers were hard at work, but making little progress.

Superintendent Miller has given orders that the rescuers must proceed with great caution now as the rock they are laboring under is "working" more or less. There is danger that in hurrying the work, other lives may be lost.

A conference of prominent mine superintendents from all over the Wyoming valley was held tonight and the situation in the mine was discussed. The conclusion was reached that to prevent further loss of life, the work of the rescue must proceed with care. It is also the unanimous belief of the superintendents that the mine is now a tomb and that it will be some days before the rescuers reach the bodies.

SILVER MEN TO GO TO CHICAGO

Democratic Bimetallic Organization Will Meet There Tomorrow.

PURPOSE OF THE POW-WOW

It Will Be to Solidify the Silver Sentiment.

Blackburn's Chances for the Nomination Will Be Discussed by His Friends in the Auditorium Annex on July 1—A Big Pull Will Be Made by the Friends of the Gentleman for First Place on the Ticket.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 28.—Senator Harris left today for Chicago to be present at the silver conference beginning on Tuesday next, under the auspices of the Democratic Bimetallic organization. He is chairman of this organization and has been since it was instituted in this city a year ago.

Speaking of the purpose of the conference, Senator Harris said it had been called in order to afford the silver Democrats an opportunity to compare views and look the ground over together preparatory to the national convention and that it would probably continue daily until the beginning of the convention. He also said the meeting would not be confined to members of the bimetallic organization, but that there would be representatives present from every state delegation friendly to silver.

Further than this, the senator declined to commit himself as to the purpose of the meeting; but it is learned from an authoritative source that the silver Democrats regard this conference as a very important affair. The organization under whose auspices the meeting is called has been laboring in season and out of season for the promotion of the silver cause within the Democratic ranks. They have had their headquarters at Senator Harris' house and from that quarter have conducted correspondence with chosen representatives in all parts of the country, to whom has been entrusted the organization of the silver forces, not only in every state but in every county in every state in the Union, where silver was considered possible to effect the

LODGING OF A SILVER IDEA

The movement grew out of the meeting held at the Metropolitan hotel in this city last summer, in which the plans were prepared and an executive committee, consisting of one member from each state, was appointed. The work has been quietly but very thoroughly performed.

The purpose of the anti-convention meeting, it is so solidified the silver organization, so as to render it thoroughly effective in the execution of the plans of the silver leaders in the convention, and to also prevent the encroachment of the gold forces. It has been the purpose to discuss the platform to be adopted and also to consider the advisability of candidates. There has been much correspondence in all parts of the country, and the plan has been to keep candidates in the background until the conference could be held, with the view of having the conference free to choose.

This has proved impracticable and it is understood the leaders in the movement fear they will be unable to control in this matter as they had at one time hoped they might do. They still hope, however, to be practically able to make the platform before the convention meets.

BLACKBURN'S CHANCES.

They Will Be Discussed in Chicago July 1.

CINCINNATI, O., June 28.—Friends of Senator Blackburn residing in Covington, Newport and elsewhere in Kentucky have received letters requesting them to attend a conference in the Auditorium annex at Chicago Wednesday, July 1, at which time plans will be considered in the interest of Blackburn's candidacy for the nomination. Ever since the endorsement of Blackburn at the state convention June 3, the delegates have been corresponding with the other states in Blackburn's interest. Senator Blackburn will attend the silver conference at the Auditorium annex next Tuesday.

GOVERNOR OF CRETE.

CONSTANTINOPLE, June 28.—Gorgi Berovitch, prince of Samos, has been appointed governor of Crete in succession to the Mussulman governor, Pasha. The island of Samos is autonomous, although it pays a tribute to the Turkish government, and Prince Gorgi Berovitch is a Christian. The recall of the former Christian governor of Crete, Carathodory Pasha, to his appointment in his stead of the Mussulman, Abdullah Pasha, who was implicated in the Armenian troubles, fanned into flame the smoldering discontent of the Cretan Christians and resulted in the disorders which have prevailed for several months in the island. The appointment of the prince of Samos is designed to conciliate the Greeks, which has manifested sympathy with the discontent of the Cretans under Turkish rule.

YALE'S CHANCES.

Experts Say They Are Not of the Best.

LONDON, June 28.—The correspondent of the Sunday Times at Henley, discussing the coming boat race, regards the chances of the different crews for winning the grand challenge cup in the following order:

Leander, New College, Oxford, Yale and Trinity Hall.

This correspondent says of the Yale crew: "No two persons hold the same opinion. If one, they could row as long when racing as they do when paddling, they ought to trouble the best of our lot, but the experience of the last two days has taught us that they are not when fully extended to forget all about the long stroke which Cook has taught them. When racing over the half course on Friday they got dreadfully short and uneven and it really appeared as if they were unable to keep their form at a racing stroke. The referee says of Dr. McDowell of Chicago: The doctor's method is all arm work, and the body of the man never becomes upright. He finishes with his head doubled upon his chest. He is reputed to have beaten the mile and a half home record by twenty seconds. But he that it may, his prospects at Henley are very poor indeed. Certainly defeat will not be due to want of practice, for he spends the greater part of the day in his boat.

OUR TRADE WITH NORWAY.

Reviewed in a Bulletin Issued by the Agricultural Department.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—The American trade with Norway is reviewed in a bulletin issued by the agricultural department. It forms the seventh of the series relating to the extension of foreign markets for American agricultural products. The bulletin says the products of Norwegian agriculture are not sufficient to meet the requirements of the population and food stuffs have to be imported in considerable quantities. The leading feature is a detailed statistical review of Norway's foreign trade, attention being given to the character and sources of imported merchandise. The total imports, exclusive of previous metals, in 1904, were valued at $35,200,270, and the exports at $22,762,350.

The principal agricultural imports are rye, and rye-flour, wheat, flour, coffee, sugar, pork, bacon and hams, hides, tallow, wool, cotton, wine and linseed and rapeseed oils. The principal imports are fish, lumber and manufactures of wood. Fishery and forest products together constitute more than two-thirds of the entire export. Norway's trade with the United States is largely in favor of the country.

Our leading exports to Norway are pork, bacon and hams, hides, tanned and raw skins, and tallow, wheat and wheat flour, petroleum and paraffine oil and machinery. The principal articles received in turn are wood pulp and fish.

HOW MR. MCKINLEY SPENT THE SABBATH

Attended a Reunion at Mrs. McKinley's Aunt's.

NEIGHBORS DROPPED IN

HAD A GENERAL ALL AROUND GOOD TIME.

McKinley Will Be Formally Notified Today That He Has Been Selected as the Standard Bearer of the Gold Bugs and the Trusts and It Is Presumed He Will Be Ticked Over the Fact.

CANTON, June 28.—Governor McKinley spent the day yesterday feeling fatigued from the week's hard work. He spent the day in the country at the home of Mrs. Mary G. Saxton, Mrs. McKinley's aunt. McKinley, who was accompanied by his family, there were present, among others, Mr. and Mrs. William Goodman of Chicago, and their son Will, former resident of this city, leaving two weeks ago for Europe. Saxton's neighbors called to pay their respects to Major and Mrs. McKinley, and the number of callers was large. William Goodman of Chicago, and their son Will, former resident of this city, leaving two weeks ago for Europe. Saxton's neighbors called to pay their respects to Major and Mrs. McKinley, and the number of callers was large.

General Grosvenor left last night on business in Kansas. The general will return in the morning and will be the auspices of the county Republican club, and in Topeka on July 1, for the Kansas State Republican league. He was accompanied to Cleveland by Congressman R. W. Taylor.

James H. Hoyt went to New York, where he remains for the next fortnight.

Charles Emory Smith of the Philadelphia Press left today. He confidently predicts McKinley's election by a great margin. He is believed to be in the country in the famous Greeley-Grant campaign.

The presidential notification committee of the national convention will reach Canton from Cleveland on special train at 10:30 o'clock tomorrow and proceed at once to the hotel. The arrangements have been made to receive the party on the front lawn. The committee will deliver the notification address and Governor McKinley will respond, probably from the porch of the residence. A simple lunch will be served the party under a tent in the rear of the hotel. The party will have been made for about 150 distinguished visitors. The party will leave Canton for Cleveland at 1 o'clock.

Arrangements for arrival and departure are made by M. A. Hanna. A large party of people are expected to be present. Several evening parties from other cities will arrive during the day of events. Captain A. H. Brown, secretary of the Ohio state board of agriculture, is here today as the advance guard of the Columbus party.

B. P. O. E.

Grand Lodge and Annual International Reunion to Meet in Cincinnati July 7.

CINCINNATI, June 28.—The grand lodge and annual international reunion of the order of Elks meets here July 7, continuing in session all week. Former opposing factions have agreed this year, and local arrangements are more extensive than for any national like meeting ever held in this city. The decorations will be profuse and both sides of the river, and the electric light and other street demonstrations at night are very elaborate. The lodge meetings will be held in the Grand Opera House, but the social events include the whole city.

PARTY PLATFORM.

An English Paper Whose Editor Has Not Much Faith in Them.

LONDON, June 28.—The Times says editorially this morning on American politics and the outlook in the United States on the currency question: "We are not sure that party platforms are so important because when the president is elected he becomes a free agent in the matter of policy. He is more than an English premier. Therefore it is not certain that McKinley will oppose the currency law of congress should it send him a bill for free silver. We trust, therefore, for the credit of the United States either that Mr. Whitney's gold campaign will succeed or that the triumph of the silverites at Chicago will be followed by a triumph at the polls."

HE KILLED A POLICEMAN

One Moment Later He Sent a Bullet Through His Brain.

A CASE MOST STRANGE

Facts About It Will Never Be Known.

Supposition Is That the Murderer and Suicide Was Surprised by an Officer in an Attempt at Burglary—An Accipiter in the Case, But Neither He Nor the Dead Murderer Have Yet Been Recognized.

DENVER, Colo., June 28.—A special to the News from Colorado Springs, Colo., says:

Last evening, while Policeman Gordon Bish was patrolling an alley in the business portion of the city, he was shot and instantly killed by an unknown man who, a few minutes later, took his own life in preference to being captured. It is believed that the murderer and suicide was surprised by the officer in an attempt at burglary. Another man was seen running from the alley immediately after the shooting and was captured and is now in jail, suspected of being implicated. It was about 10 o'clock, when five shots were heard in the alley. Many persons were on the streets at the time and a general rush was made for the spot. The murderer saw his escape cut off and at first took refuge in a coal house with the evident intention of offering resistance. A few minutes later, however, recognizing his desperate situation, he placed the muzzle of his pistol to his forehead and shot himself through his brain. Neither the dead murderer nor his supposed accomplice have been identified.

ARTHUR'S IDEA.

Of the Opinion That Strikes Will Be Less Frequent in the Future.

TOPEKA, Kan., June 28.—P. M. Arthur, chief of the Brotherhood of Engineers, is here visiting the Topeka members of the order. Mr. Arthur said today that his opinion strikes would not be so frequent in the future as they have been in the past. He is working with the leaders of the different political organizations to build up a law for the arbitration of differences between railroad companies and their employees and believes that congress will enact such law in the near future. Mr. Arthur was at a meeting of engineers during the day.

FOREIGN FACTS.

London, June 28.—The Berlin correspondent of the Times, recalling the fact that Baron Von Berlepsch, whose resignation as Prussian minister of commerce was reported to the Associated Press on Saturday, was appointed in 1890 to execute the emperor's imperial social reform, remarks: "His policy, having failed to prevent the spread of socialism, Baron von Berlepsch was instructed to moderate his reforming zeal. This he seemed unable to do, and his lack of suppleness led to his retirement."

London, June 28.—In an article on the recent Canadian elections, the Times considers the chances of the free trade in Canada as outside the range of practical politics. "Mr. Laurier will do much," the Times adds, "if he is able to prevent the spread of socialism, but the public mind for a fiscal change."

London, June 28.—A Copenhagen dispatch to the Times says: The allusion in the platform of the St. Louis Republican convention to the fact that the United States purchasing the Danish West Indies, has created some sensation. It is believed that the Danish government is very anxious to acquire an excellent American naval station. The Danish government has been sent to prepare to sell these small colonies at a suitable price.

Paris, June 28.—Emile Arton, implicated with Dr. Herz and the late Baron von Reineck in the frauds on the Panama canal company, has been sentenced to six years at hard labor.

Mr. Arton disappeared from Paris very soon after the Panama scandal broke out to be made the subject of a judicial inquiry and was extradited from England and returned to France. He is now in the hands of the police for a long period and the knowledge he is supposed to possess involves the welfare of a large number of people and is being used to evade the police for a long period and the knowledge he is supposed to possess involves the welfare of a large number of people and is being used to evade the police for a long period.

HONE HAPPENINGS.

Boise, Ida., June 28.—Tomorrow's issue of the Statesman will be a woman's edition, published for the benefit of a reformatory and relief society. It will be twenty pages, with departments devoted to all subjects of current interest, and with all the news features of the regular daily paper. It promises to be a pronounced success in every way.

Philadelphia, June 28.—R. E. Duffer, executive committee member for the Pennsylvania national silver party, has addressed a circular to the Friends of Silver in Pennsylvania. The circular, among other things, urges upon the people the necessity of electing J. Donald Cameron United States senator.

Bay City, Mich., June 28.—The row in the Polish Catholic church which resulted in a large faction of the membership leaving the church premises for months past, today developed into an exciting row. While a funeral was being conducted today two of the Poles quarreled and exchanged blows. The adherents of the two factions took sides, and while the excitement was at its height some one in the crowd fired a revolver. The result was that two men were wounded, neither of them seriously. After this incident peace was again restored for the time being.

Cincinnati, June 28.—Patrick McKeown, who was nominated at the Democratic state convention last Wednesday for state food and dairy commissioner, died at his home last night of cholera morbus.

New York, June 28.—A gasoline explosion at Plainfield, N. J., today caused the death of Mrs. Alice Moricim, aged 15. Mrs. Gertrude Peterson was probably fatally burned by the same explosion.

"THE SILVER LINING."

Whirl of Politics Inaugurated in Chicago in a Novel Manner.

CHICAGO, June 28.—The whirl of politics accompanying the Democratic national convention was inaugurated tonight in a novel manner. "The Silver Lining," a play based upon the money issue was put on the boards at the Grand Opera house to run until after the convention is over.

Opinion is divided as to whether or not the production of the play here at this time has not more or less of a political motive. The trend of the play is strongly pro-silver, and circulars were distributed quoting endorsements of the piece by well known silver statesmen, public men and governors of a dozen states, including United States Senators Jones and Stewart, W. H. Harvey (Colo.), Hon. T. M. Patterson, of Denver, Keir Hardie, Governor Altgeld and Eugene V. Debs. The scenes of the play are laid in the wheat producing section of Pike county, Illinois, and the piece is a strong presentation of the different phases of the money question from a silver standpoint. The play was well received and the author, a well known newspaper man, Fitzgerald Murphy, of Boston, was called before the curtain. He delivered a spicy and was given a hearty round of applause.
